UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT HELD MONDAY

PAUL V. McNUTT DELIVERS
ADDRESS TO DEPAUW
SENIORS

HELD IN BOWMAN GYMNASIUM

Thomas Are Given Graduates By Dr. Oxnam, President Of University

Governor Paul V. McNutt delivered DePauw university's ninety-sixth commencement address at graduation exercises Monday morning at which one hundred and forty-seven undergraduates received degrees. Seven honorary degrees and four master degrees were also conferred by President G. Bromley Oxnam.

The life you choose will be your life, as well as the destiny of your nation," said Governor McNutt in his opening remarks. "You leave during a critical period, a time of great stress and change. The life you choose will be your life, as well as the destiny of your nation."

The patriotism must be a new, a deeper, a continuous patriotism. We must look upon patriotism as a thing that serves for periods of armed conflict. The struggle to restore economic equilibrium is as grim and real as any war.

This has been a long crisis. For twenty years, with only short intervals of calm in which to catch our breath, we have lived in the storm of stress of incalculable events. Not a generation goes through an ordeal of this kind. Think back to 1914 and then realize how tremendous have been the demands upon human energy, the constant peril and terrible anxiety first of the great war and its huge miseries, and then of the peacemaking and the complications and violent passions, then the solutions which overthrew all the empires of continental Europe, then the first reconstruction in the twenties, then the breakdown in 1929 and all the panics and the revolutions that have swept mankind. We need to be astonished that statesmen have become confused and that the people have again and again acted as if they were little more than mad.

There have been plenty of projects which could have worked in a world where men were disposed to accept them. They have not worked because they were submitted to people who were too frightened, too material and too distracted to understand them and to cooperate in realizing them.

The only thing about which I feel certain in the next twenty years is that we cannot really imagine what they will be like, for in the present phase we do not know enough to understand our own history or to predict our own future. A moralized people today cannot make any social order work, it does not matter whether it be capitalistic, communist, fascist or what not. A collected, confident people with moral stamina can probably make any system work tolerably well and when it does not work, institute proper reforms.

Governor McNutt then went on to illustrate his point with the actions of President Roosevelt when the latter first took office. That is, to restore confidence in the American people in the ability of their own government to meet a crisis.

"The secret of the American attack on the crisis," he continued, "did not lie in the NRA or in any legislative act as such. It was found in the revival of the American spirit through the conquest of fear. No policy is a panacea, no failure a disaster, provided only that the government and the people hold fast to the conviction that we have come out of the worst of our dangers by overcoming our own demoralization."

The speaker then sounded a note of warning concerning conditions outside our own frontiers. "The awful truth is," he said, "that the peace of the world hangs in the balance. There are in the far east and in central Europe conflicts which in the present state of mind of the people concerned appear irreconcilable. In both regions there are ruling powers which avow their faith in force. It is not by diplomatic formulas and by conventions and treaties that such a crisis can be overcome. It is only by the moral unity of all these nations which wish to

Rector Alumni Honor Longen

BEAUTIFUL DESK AND CHAIR
PRESENTED RETIRING DIRECTOR AT DINNER MEETING

Dr. Henry B. Longden, who will retire as director of the Edward Rector Scholarship Foundation June 30, was honored by the Rector Scholar alumni at the annual dinner meeting of the Rector Scholar Alumni Association Sunday night in Longden Hall. The largest crowd ever to return for one of these meetings was present as guests of Mrs. Rector. The members of the present senior class who are Rector scholars and who were graduated today, were also present as guests.

Prof. Jarvis Davis, vice-president of the association, presided in the absence of Don Turner of Union City who has been ill and was unable to attend this year's meeting. The first speaker on the program was President Oxnam who welcomed the Rector alumni on behalf both the University and Mrs. Rector. He was followed by Dr. Longden who compared the first year when the initial forty-seven Rector Scholars were enrolled with today when one hundred or more seniors are being graduated each year through Mr. Rector's generosity.

Dean G. Herbert Smith, who will succeed Dr. Longden as director of the Foundation spoke next and was followed by Dr. George R. Grose, former DePauw president who compared Mr. Rector's favorite expression "Hold Steady" with the condition of the world today which he characterized as "Jittery." Dr. Grose was followed by David E. Lillenthal, general counsel for the TVA. Mr. Lillenthal, although not a Rector scholar, was a close friend of Mr. Rector and possibly the last person outside of immediate members of the family who last saw him alive.

The concluding speaker was Mr. Roy O. West, who perhaps more than any other man, interested Mr. and Mrs. Rector in DePauw University and was one of the first to recommend Dr. Longden as the man to direct the Foundation. On behalf the Rector Scholar Alumni Association, Mr. West made the presentation speech of a beautiful desk and chair which the Rector scholar graduates had purchased as a parting gift for the man they had known and loved so well.

In the election of officers for the coming year, Prof. Davis was elected president after having served as vice-president this year; Robert Cushman '25 of Chicago was elected vice-president. H. E. Robbins is permanent secretary-treasurer.

Members of the nominating committee were Sam Hanna and Prof.

Brown, formerly of this city, but now of Louisville, Ky., was given a signal honor at the annual commencement exercises of the Male High School in Louisville last week. He was awarded the Yale Alumni Cup, which is given annually by the Yale Alumni Association of Louisville to the member of the senior class who excels in scholarship, character, leadership and athletics.

MANY NOTABLES ON CAMPUS

Reunions Held By Classes Ending In
"5" And "10". Chapel Is A Feature.

Alumni day which was celebrated Saturday on the DePauw university campus, was considered the greatest observance of its kind in many years. Not only was there a record breaking crowd of graduates and former students who returned to the campus to honor Dr. Henry B. Longden on his retirement, but one of the finest programs ever arranged packed McHarry hall to overflowing for the alumni chapel. Many were turned away who could not find seats or standing room in the chapel.

Many notables also returned to add unusual color and interest to the occasion. In the list of guests were such men as Willis Vandevanter, chief justice of the United States supreme court; Major Gen. Omar Bundy, who is credited with turning the tide of the late World war; former senator James E. Watson, who was a leading figure at the nation's capital for more than forty years; David E. Lillenthal who stands high in the estimation of the present chief executive and is general counsel for the huge Tennessee Valley Authority; Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, former president of DePauw; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, another former DePauw head; Dr. George R. Grose, former Methodist bishop and one time president of DePauw; Roy O. West, president of the DePauw board of trustees and visitors; Mrs. Lucy Rowland Rector of Chicago, widow of Edward Rector, DePauw's greatest benefactor; and many, many others.

Reunion classes reported the largest attendance in many years, the afternoon being devoted to those classes ending in "5" and "10" who are celebrating this year their five year anniversaries. The class of 1885, which observed its golden anniversary, was distinguished by huge white ribbons on which was printed: "Class '85." Members of this class received the fifty year medals at the chapel service, the medals being presented by Dr. Longden. Not only was it unusual that Dr. Longden's own wife should be a member of this class and receive a medal at the hands of her husband, but Dr. Longden's brother, Dr. Aladine Cummings Longden of Galesburg, Ill., also appeared and received a medal. Dr. A. C. Longden, who has been retired as professor of physics at Knox college, was graduated from DePauw with Dr. H. B. Longden in 1881.

At the chapel exercises, four DePauw presidents took part. Bishop Hughes in his address retold the well known story of how Dr. Longden had decided his own future by the flip of a coin in the cornfields of Illinois.

Wesleyan Cane Awarded Publisher

INFORMAL PROGRAM OF PRE-SENTATION OF OHIO WESLEYAN
CANE HELD SUNDAY

In an informal service at Longden Hall Sunday afternoon, the Ohio Wesleyan cane, given to the oldest living graduate, was presented to John B. Schwin, publisher of The Covington Friend. The presentation was made by Dr. Edmund Soper, president of Ohio Wesleyan, who was visiting in Greencastle at which place he was awarded an honorary degree by DePauw University on Monday.

Mr. Schwin was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan with the class of 1869. He was born in 1844 and had just finished serving his time in the Union Army when he entered the Ohio school. The cane has been held by Smith Stimmell of Fargo N. D., who was a year older than Mr. Schwin, but who was in the same class. He died ten days ago, and was nationally recognized as having been one of Lincoln's body guards.

The informal service Sunday afternoon was attended by only the members of the Schwin family. The presentation of the Wesleyan cane is similar to that followed at DePauw where the oldest living alumni is given the "DePauw" cane.

Council Reduces Appropriations

FARES AMOUNT ASKED FOR POOR RELIEF FROM
$13,000 TO $11,000

Members of the county council completed a two-day session Saturday during which they appropriated money from the county general fund to pay certain expenses and transferred other sums.

The $13,000 appropriation sought for poor relief was reduced to $11,000 by the council on grounds poor relief costs should not be so heavy during the summer because of garden supplies. Another reduction was made in the $2,500 sought for opening the highway under the Raccoon bridge, this sum being pared to $500.

Members of the council also authorized the board of commissioners to issue and sell refunding bonds in the sum of $25,000 to provide funds for the satisfaction of an equal amount of Putnam county hospital bonds maturing after Nov. 15, 1935, said refunding bonds to bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent.

The difference in the interest rate on the refunding bonds is expected to save taxpayers several hundred dollars over the period the bonds are maturing.

A total of $9,000 was transferred by the council members from the stone and gravel appropriation to pay for tar and road oil. An unexpended $228.80 in the sum appropriated for purchase of trucks was transferred to a fund for road tools.

Various sums asked by county office holders for purchase of ledgers and other expenses were all appropriated. They included $670 for the clerk, $665 for the auditor, $350 for the treasurer, and $270 for the recorder. In connection with these appropriations the county auditor said Monday he was not asking the council for an appropriation of $1,800 which he is allowed for a school fund investigator, proposing to do this work himself and save the taxpayers this amount.

The sum of $54.75 was allowed for repairs to the jail roof, $175 for repair of the courthouse elevator, and $210 was appropriated for salary of the council members. Election expenses resulted in another $10 appropriation.

Sums ranging from $8 to $118 for assessing expenses in the various townships this spring were all appropriated except $125 asked by the assessor of Warren township which was not allowed because of improper filing of this claim.

Clifford Lewis, 23-year old transient who collapsed on the National road last Thursday and was later brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff William Ashworth, was returned to a transient camp at Terre Haute Saturday. Sheriff John Sutherland announced Monday. Lewis said his home was in Syracuse, N. Y., but the local sheriff said he had been unable to locate the man's relatives.

Miss Edna Curtis is visiting in Indianapolis. A number of Greencastle people went to Cloverdale to attend the horse show. J. P. Allen Jr. has purchased a 7-passenger Chalmers auto. Gordon Thomas, who is attending Indiana university, is the guest of his parents.

J. L. O'NEILL DIRECTOR OF REVIVED NRA

TO OPERATE IN ABBREVIATED FORM UNTIL APRIL OF
NEXT YEAR

HEAD NAMED BY PRESIDENT

Former New York Banker In Complete Charge Of Reorganization Plans

WASHINGTON, June 17, (UP)—The NRA blue eagle revived in an emaciated form after its defeat in the Schechter case, returned today to one-man rule with a new nine and a half months lease on life.

James L. O'Neill, former New York banker and recently control officer of NRA, was named by President Roosevelt to have complete charge of reorganization under the extension act passed by congress.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his executive order setting up the new organization, indicated he anticipates further legislation to broaden and strengthen the present stop-gap NRA arrangement. He hinted some such legislation may be sent to congress.

"So long as there is possibility of further legislation, it will be desirable to maintain the general structure of the recovery administration in Washington and in field offices, and to retain those essential members of a trained personnel who can be usefully employed," he said.

"There will be lasting values in a careful appraisal of the two-year accomplishment of NRA and in preserving for permanent use the records of that experience," the president said.

O'Neill, as acting administrator, will be assisted by Leon C. Marshall, labor member of the seven-man NRA board which expired at midnight last night, and Prentiss L. Cooney, a code administrator.

Marshall will head a board to gather data on business and industry. Cooney will direct a division of business cooperation to aid business firms that desire to maintain voluntary codes.

George L. Berry, president of the Printing Pressman's union and until yesterday a division administrator, was named as assistant to O'Neill, representing labor. The order set up an advisory council consisting of: Howell Cheney, Philip Murray, Emily Newell Blair, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, Walton Hamilton, and Charles Edison, son of the late inventor.

In returning NRA to a one-man control the president followed a desire expressed several months ago. The recovery agency had been directed by a board, lately headed by Donald R. Richberg, resigned, since Gen. Hugh S. Johnson stepped out last year.

The president did not indicate how many of the 5,400 NRA employees would be retained, but declared a "steady but gradual reduction of personnel" to be a sound public policy.

"The administration of the amended act will proceed as rapidly as possible to adjust activities and personnel to conform to present limited objectives," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Under the president's order, the new NRA extended to April 1, 1936, will have two principal functions:

1. A study of the effects of codes on fair competition and the results of their elimination. This work will be under the direction of Marshall.

2. Cooperation with business in the formation of voluntary maintenance of standards of competition. This work will be under Cooney's direction.

The president did not expand upon his reference to possible future NRA legislation. He has proposed legislation providing that government contractors must agree to maintain certain standards of wages, hours, and the elimination of child labor.

It was believed, however, that in his executive order the president referred to a program to be presented to the next congress. This, it was believed, may include amendment to the constitution to give the government power of business control which the supreme court held in the Schechter case the present constitution denies.

DIES OF FOOD POISONING

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17 (UP)—David Roach, 56, one of approximately 200 relief workers poisoned by food from a federal transient shelter here last week, died today in City hospital.

EXPRESS CO. HANDLED CAR
LOADS OF STUDENT TRUNKS

One of the big problems at the close of the school year at DePauw, is the handling of student luggage. Most of them come in during the fall in automobiles and ship their luggage, and the same procedure is reversed at the close of the school year.

Last Friday, Gwinn Ensign, manager of the express company, said they sent out nearly a car load of trunks; on Saturday they loaded more than a car and Monday they had nearly two car loads more to go. Two trucks were kept busy during the last of the week handling the luggage, practically all of which went home "C. O. D."

Dr. Monger To Head Committee

LOCAL MINISTER TO DIRECT
DEPAUW CENTENNIAL
PROGRAM PLANS

Dr. A. E. Monger, pastor of the Goben Memorial church, was appointed chairman of the centennial committee for DePauw university's centennial celebration in 1937, by the university board of trustees and visitors in their annual meeting last Friday, it was announced today. Dr. Monger will succeed Dr. Henry B. Longden who resigned from that post when he asked to be retired from active duty.

Dr. Monger is a graduate of DePauw with the class of 1904 and has been pastor of the local church since 1930. He is a member of the board of directors for the DePauw Alumni association and has been very close to both the alumni body and the university during his residence here. The fact that he is a local man, able to be here at all time to plan and carry out the huge task of DePauw's great celebration, is an added asset.

Other members of the centennial committee are Arthur Baxter of Indianapolis, Henry Ulen of Lebanon, Kenneth C. Hogate of New York City, and Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, members of the board of trustees, and LeGrand Cannon of Dixon, Ill., and Phil Maxwell of Chicago. Dr. Longden was made a new member of the committee at the time Dr. Monger was appointed chairman. President Oxnam, Roy O. West and Henry Hornbrook are ex-officio members of the committee.

TIGER WOMAN FREED

TAHACHAPI, Cal., June 17, (UP)—Clara Phillips, California's notorious "tiger woman," was released from prison today.

Deliriously happy, she rushed through the white iron gate of the women's prison and threw herself into the arms of her sister, Miss Elta Mae Weaver.

"I'm so glad it's all over," she sobbed. "I feel so good I have to cry." The hammer murderess was released shortly after 7:45 a. m. having served 12 years and 15 days for the slaying of Alberta Meadows, pretty young stenographer.

Twister Strikes North Putnam Co.

TWO BARNS IN PATH OF WIND-
STORM DAMAGED BUT NO ONE IS HURT.

A miniature cyclone which struck a mile west of New Mayssville about 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon is reported to have damaged buildings on two farms but no one was injured.

According to reports the twister cut a swath 200 feet wide and about a mile long, damaging a barn on the Ed Beason farm and a barn, garage and tool shed on the Aetna Life Insurance Co., farm on which Arley Templeman lives. A number of trees in the path of the windstorm also was reported uprooted.

Fortunately no houses were struck by the high wind which apparently lifted and struck again in Tippecanoe and Fountain counties where considerable damage was done.

Menacing clouds hung over several sections of Putnam county during the heavy rains Sunday afternoon but no other reports of damage were heard.

A 1930 4-door Whippet bearing license plates 190-766 issued to John W. Strain, 520 Eagle street, Terre Haute, abandoned on the National road a mile west of state road 43, was taken into custody Sunday by Sheriff John Sutherland and deputy William Ashworth and will be held until the owner is found. The local sheriff's office said the car apparently was not damaged.

CRASH INJURIES PROVE FATAL TO WILLIS CRODIAN

GAYLORD FOSTER PAINFULLY
HURT IN ACCIDENT SATUR-DAY AFTERNOON

Two Local Men Enjoying Ride On Manhattan Road When Accident Occurred.

Willis Crodian, age 54 years, living on the east Washington street road extension, is dead and Gaylord Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Foster, 108 Taylor Place, is in the Putnam county hospital suffering from injuries sustained in an automobile wreck Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Crodian died at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night as a result of a fractured skull and internal injuries. He also suffered a broken leg, a broken arm and his shoulder was also fractured.

Mr. Foster is suffering from a badly fractured leg and from shock, but is not otherwise seriously hurt. He will be confined to the hospital for several months, because of the serious nature of the fracture.

The only witnesses to the accident was a hitch-hiker, who was walking towards Greencastle when he saw the automobile approaching. The wreck took place near the entrance to the barn of E. P. Hauck, living north of Hamrick station. The car apparently left the road at the bottom of the grade and just south of the first curve near where it went off the pavement. It left the concrete on the west side and then swerved back to the east side and into the ditch on that side of the highway. The great speed at which it was traveling caused it to strike the embankment with terrific force and it landed near the barn entrance up-side down. Foster and Crodian were both thrown clear of the wreckage and were picked up unconscious and brought to the hospital in the Rector ambulance.

The automobile was an open type coupe and was a complete wreck. It was brought to the local Ford agency during the afternoon. There was some doubt as to which of the men was driving the car at the time of the accident. It was said the hitch-hiker said the taller man, meaning Mr. Crodian, was at the wheel when they lost control of the machine. When they left Greencastle Mr. Foster was driving.

Monday morning it developed that Robert Richie who lives on the former A. A. Hauck farm and William Blue, living near Greencastle, were riding north on the Manhattan road when they met Foster and Crodian going south. They met them near the George Friend home, which is at the top of the hill on which the accident occurred. Both men said Foster was driving at the time and they said their car was going at a very moderate rate of speed at that time. This information came out in an investigation being made by Charles Rector, Coroner, and John Sutherland, sheriff.

Mr. Crodian is survived by the widow and two sons, Harold and James of Greencastle, and a brother, Claude Crodian of Clinton Falls.

The funeral services will be held from the Rector Funeral Home at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. Singhouse of the Nazarene church. Burial will be in the Clinton Falls cemetery.

Friends may call at the residence until noon Tuesday when the body will be removed to the Funeral Home.

DePauw Confers Honorary Degrees

TWO MEMBERS OF FACULTY AMONG THOSE ACCORDED HIGH HONORS

DePauw university, in its commencement exercises here today, conferred seven honorary degrees. For the first time in many years, two of DePauw's own faculty members were honored by the university they served. Prof. Van Demmon Thompson receiving the Doctorate of Music, and Prof. Francis C. Tilden receiving the Doctor of Letters degree.

Rev. Richard E. Scully of Cincinnati, Ohio, received the Doctor of Divinity degree. J. K. Lilly, Sr., of Indianapolis, Doctor of Laws; Carl S. Ell, vice-president and dean of Northeastern university, and Bennett M. Allen of the University of California at Los Angeles, Doctor of Science, and Dr. Edmund Soper, president of Ohio Wesleyan university, Doctor of Laws.

The Doc. Mus. degree conferred upon Prof. Thompson is the first degree of this kind ever awarded at DePauw. Prof. Thompson has been on the DePauw Music School faculty since 1911 and has a national reputation as an organist and composer. He was chosen by the Methodist Episcopal church to write the oratorio for the sesquicentennial of Methodism and his "Evangel of the New World" promises to be one of the greatest compositions in the realm of the oratorio.

Prof. Tilden who received the L.T.T. D. degree has been on the DePauw faculty since 1900. His courses in literature have a social significance that is to be found in no other literature courses. Prof. Tilden received his Ph. B. degree from DePauw in 1897, his A. B. from Harvard in 1898 and his M. A. from Harvard in 1899.

Mr. Lilly is chairman of the board of Eli Lilly & Company and for thirty-four years was president of this organization. He attended DePauw when it was Indiana Asbury university. He is a native of this city and the first twelve years of his life were spent here before the family moved to Indianapolis. Mr. Lilly has been interested in higher education in Indiana, and DePauw, Wash and Butler have benefited by his benefactions. Among other things, he has collected and conserved the compositions of Stephan Foster and has presented complete sets of Foster songs to more than 1,000 libraries. Foster hall near Indianapolis is the shrine of this beloved composer.

Dean Ell who received the D. Sc. degree, is himself a DePauw graduate with the class of 1909. His greatest contribution to education has been as one of the leaders for co-operative education. At Northeastern university students attend class five weeks and then go into the business or industrial world for five weeks to apply in actual practice what they have learned through class work. This unique feature has been a most interesting development in American education. Dr. Ell went to the Northeastern university in 1912, three years after the school was founded.

Dr. Allen who also received the D. Sc. degree is a native of Greencastle and was graduated from DePauw in 1898. He has been on the faculty at the University of California in Los Angeles since 1922. His special field is the department of zoology and his experiments in the thyroid, pituitary and thymus glands of the amphibian larvae have been valuable contributions into the insight of factors that control growth and development of animals. He is chairman of the research committee at U. C. L. A.

Rev. Scully, who received the only D. D. degree awarded, was graduated from DePauw in 1910 and from Boston university in 1914. After serving as instructor in Culver Military academy and acting as pastor in Massachusetts, he founded the Good Will Industries and Settlement in Cincinnati in 1918 and since that time has acted as its executive secretary.

Dr. Soper who received the LL. D. degree, has been president of Ohio Wesleyan since 1928. He is a graduate of Dickinson college and has held faculty posts at Drew Theological seminary, Northwestern university and Duke university.

Mrs. Catherine Mount of Scottsburg is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, south Jackson street.

Christine Dietrich Bride of Willard Bennett
Miss Christine Louise Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dietrich, became the bride of Thomas Willard Bennett, son of the late Rev. A. L. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett of Indianapolis Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in a pretty ceremony at the home of the bride's parents near Greencastle.

The bride was charming in a gown of white satin, fashioned with exquisite simplicity. Her veil of silk tulle fell from a braided satin head band. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bride carried a handkerchief used by her grandmother at her wedding sixty-nine years ago. Miss Mary Elizabeth Peck, Miss Dietrich's only attendant, wore a gown of pink French lace and carried deep pink roses and delphinium. Marion McCoy, of Indianapolis, a nephew of the bride, was best man.

Merrieth Knetzer, small niece of the bride, scattered rose petals in the path of the bridal party.

Before the ceremony, Gilbert Knetzer, brother-in-law of the bride, sang the "Pi Omega Pi Sweetheart Song," "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Knetzer, sister of the bride, was at the piano.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Robert T. Beck, minister of the First Christian church.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Refreshments of pink wedding bells, pink and white angel cakes, and punch were served.

Out of town guests included Mrs. A. L. Bennett, Miss Martha E. Bennett of Indianapolis, Mrs. A. O. Ellis of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCoy and son Donald of Holland, Mich., Miss Carolyn Rein, Mrs. Louis A. Libking, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prange, all of Indianapolis.

Local people who attended were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Hays, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Hutcheson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. May Hammond, Mrs. Edith Gilbert, Mrs. Robert T. Beck, Miss Mary Frances Cooper, Dr. and Mrs. Truman Yunker, Miss Martha Knetzer, and Herschel Knetzer.

PICQUETT ACQUITTED, FACES NEW TRIAL

CHICAGO, June 17—Acquitted of a charge of harboring his late client, John Dillinger, Attorney Louis Piquett went into Federal Court today for trial on charges that he harbored Dillinger's lieutenant, the slain Homer Van Meter.

Principal government witnesses on call were Dr. William Loeser and Dr. Harold B. Cassidy, said by federal agents to have performed the face lifting operations on Dillinger and Van Meter. Another witness expected to be heard by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan was Arthur O'Leary, former investigator for Piquett.

The attorney was freed by a jury in the Dillinger harboring case after testifying he acted only in the confidential relationship of lawyer and client and attempted to induce Dillinger to surrender.

The government alleged Piquett knew of the face lifting operations for Dillinger and Van Meter while both were fugitives.

SIGNS HARD TO FIND

The state road 43 road markers at the intersection of Washington and Jackson streets at the south-west corner of the public square are evidently hard to locate by motorists, if Saturday's inquiries are any criterion. Most people coming to Greencastle Saturday, found the signs hard to locate and dozens of them drove past the intersection the wrong way.

The sign in the court-house is on the wrong side of the street, entirely too far from the road for the average motorists to see, especially when cars are packed close to it. This combination causes most drivers to miss the turn of the state highway in Greencastle.

LAW IS UPHOLD

The Indiana Supreme Court upheld the Indiana law which prohibits all person under 16 years of age from driving automobiles in first and second class cities.

Constitutionality of law permitting the secretary of state to issue permits to drive to persons between ages of 14 and 16 except in first and second class cities was upheld. Permits are for use only in towns and from school.

The opinion was written by Justice James P. Hughes.

ADULT EDUCATION WILL CONTINUE THROUGH SUMMER

Definite assurance has been made from the state director by County Supervisor William E. Search that the adult education program will be discontinued in Putnam county throughout the summer as has been found advisable to do in many other counties throughout the state. The program will not be as restricted as during the winter months as restricted allotment and types of work have been specified by the state department. Literary, gardening and food preservation, music and dress making, are to be featured.

Under the new plans the recreational program for the county that Search has been planning on can be conducted under the education department, but must come through the state recreational department. It is the present plan of the department to resume a full recreational program again in September.

G. A. R. IN SESSION

MARION, Ind. June 17 (UP)—The annual sessions of the 96th annual encampment of the Indiana department of Grand Army of the Republic were held here today with more than 200 of the state's 1,000 serving Civil War veterans in attendance.

The number of visitors was swayed by members of the Women's Red Cross, ladies of the G. A. R. Dons of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans and Auxiliary of Sons of Union Veterans, holding annual conventions in conjunction with the encampment.

Former Sen. Arthur R. Robinson lauded soldiers of all wars in a dress yesterday at dedication of five-inch field gun mounted on Grant County courthouse lawn.

La Porte and Vincennes made for entertaining the 1935 convention at the opening session.

James E. Watson, former U. S. States Senator, is scheduled as principal speaker for the annual fire meeting Wednesday night.

The annual parade, in which veterans will ride in automobiles this year, will conclude the encampment Thursday.

NAME POOR WIRING FOR FIRE AT WEDDING

NEW YORK, June 17.—Fire that ended a wedding party into a panic caused the deaths of a prospective bridegroom's mother and a guest. A third person perished last night and eighty-three were injured.

The dead were Mrs. Sophie Shein, 56 years old, the mother; Sophie Ackerman, 56, and Paul Stricker, 21, who succumbed when he entered the blazing building a fifth time to save children to safety.

Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy, after an investigation, laid the catastrophe to faulty wiring of electric lights which illuminated a laurel canopy beneath which the prospective bride, Miss Pearl Sokolower, 21 years old, was sitting in state, according to Jewish custom.

At the stroke of midnight a rabbi came to have married her to Louis S. Wein, 26. More than 300 guests, including many children, were dancing and making merry on the first floor of a four-story public hall on the lower east side.

Shortly after 11 o'clock a wisp of smoke rose from the imitation laurel leaves of Miss Sokolower's canopy. Somebody yelled "fire!" There was panic.

A powerful ventilator fanned the smoldering glow into a leaping flame which lapped quickly over the bunting and flimsy decorations with which the hall was hung.

PLAYS NEW DEAL

WASHINGTON, June 17, (UP)—W. Y. Mitchell, ousted assistant secretary of commerce, attacked the new deal today in a statement that charged "improper favoritism and graft abound" in the department of commerce.

At the office of Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper it was stated "the secretary will make no reply" to the charges made by Mitchell.

"It is unfortunate but nonetheless true," Mitchell said, "that the department of commerce is not the only department in Washington where the ideals of the new deal have been strangled, improper favoritism and graft abound, where there is apparent evidence of corruption, and the progress of the old steal proceeds unabated."

Said sale to be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisal laws.

JOHN T. SUTHERLIN, Sheriff Putnam County.

DEPAUW COMMENCEMENT

keep the peace. The forces of order in the world are still more powerful than the forces of chaos. If only they are united. The question as to whether there is to be peace or war in Europe or in Asia will depend on whether the strength of those who wish peace is not unmistakably greater than the strength of those who might gamble on an appeal to force.

"This is in many ways a very dark moment in the history of mankind. Not for centuries has there been so much violence and disorder, such insecurity and so much hysterical despair in so many quarters of the globe. Yet I do not doubt the outcome when I realize what the encroaching democracies of our western world have withstood. There are many dictatorships in the world; there is none in the old democracies. On this soil we shall prove that to save ourselves from the disorders of this age, men need not surrender their birthright for a mess of fascist, communist or nazi pottage. You will have your part in making the demonstration if you will follow or be responsible leaders and will maintain the American spirit."

In concluding his remarks to the class, Governor McNutt said: "The basis of today's leadership must be intelligence. You have prepared for life in a world of intricate economic forces. You need knowledge and power to think your way through. Life everywhere today is also subject to international influences. To understand these influences requires a better education for more people. The wisdom of America's foreign policy can be improved only in so far as the people as a whole understand and approve such improvement. The welfare of the state springs out of the character and the informed purposes of the private citizen. Members of your generation have an opportunity to meet and justify the faith of all in our educational system. The test will be the intelligent performance of your obligation as citizens and your defense of fundamental American institutions."

The conferring of degrees followed the governor's address. The master of arts degree was conferred upon Eugene Edna Shoup, and the master of music degree upon Katherine R. Dunlavy, Elizabeth Pengilly and Carmen E. Siewert. A capacity crowd attended the exercises which were held in Bowman gymnasium.

The baccalaureate service for the senior class was held Sunday evening in Gobin Memorial Church with President Oxnam delivering the address. Dr. Oxnam preached a powerful sermon on a text taken from Saint Paul. During his address the DePauw president scored those who would sacrifice political liberties which have been secured through the centuries for economic security of the moment.

He attacked certain laws which are being passed in various states that suppress freedom of speech and freedom of the press. "Only by bringing discussion into the open, and allowing men to utter their thoughts and thus give opportunity for these utterances to be answered on an intelligent basis, can we have progress. Don't force this freedom underground," he warned.

MANY ALUMNI RETURN

Bishop McConnell, confined his remarks to a praise of Dr. Longden's interpretation of the German language and its people, a subject he taught for many years on the De-

Pauw faculty. Dr. Gross characterized him as "eminent as a teacher of German, but pre-eminent as a teacher of men." President Oxnam spoke of him as a man who had solved the problem of the "if" moment which confronts every student.

David Lillenthal, who officially represented the alumni body, hearkened back to the dark days of the world war when Dr. Longden, as a teacher of a language that had become hateful in the emotional stress of the time, spoke in chapel on Germany and that country at once became the universal tragedy of all times. Justice Vandevanter spoke as a classmate of Dr. Longden's and praised the brilliant scholarship of the DePauw vice-president as an undergraduate. "The promise of his early years has come true," Mr. Vandevanter said.

Mr. West, after prefacing his remarks, presented to Dr. Longden, on behalf of the board of trustees, a resolution adopted by that body and handsomely bound in leather. The text of this resolution was quoted in Saturday's issue of The Banner. Charles F. Coffin, president of the DePauw Alumni association and a classmate of Dr. Longden's, presided at the chapel and arranged the program which brought such a throng back to the campus. At the close of the exercises, Dr. Longden himself responded and quoted some of the suggestions that had come to him in letters from friends as to his future activity.

Following the chapel, the alumni luncheon was served in Bowman gymnasium and every available place, six hundred in all, was taken. No program was arranged for the luncheon but the classes were permitted to sit together to visit and chat during the meal. Following the luncheon the class reunions were held under the trees of East campus with splendid June weather prevailing for the occasion. All the fraternity and sorority houses on the campus, as well as the university halls of residence, gave alumni dinners for their returning graduates. Appropriate programs were a part of the dinner. President and Mrs. Oxnam held an informal reception at their home during the evening and most of the alumni and faculty members attended.

Many of the reunion classes returned to the campus later in the evening for post-reunion celebrations. The campus was lighted with many lights strung about the walks near East college and were centered on this historic building so that it stood out brilliantly. All in all the alumni day celebration this year eclipsed anything that has been observed in many years. Dr. Longden was a marked man and was constantly besieged by friends and alumni who wished to shake his hand and wish him well on this great occasion.

(Mary, encouraging Jack at the circus ball, tries to be friendly casual, but leaves in a panic when he says he is not happy and knows she is not. Lillian, does not hear, but she sees. She orders Jack to tell her what there is between him and Mary.)

Chapter 8

Jack surreptitiously looked at his watch. He hoped Gordon had lost all sense of time. He had tried to calm him, but now he was really worried himself. It was four o'clock. Gordon was pacing up and down in Mary's apartment. "She seemed all right," Gordon demanded again. "Sure, in one fettle. Missed you, of course."

"Wish I could be sure of that." "It's all going to be all right," said Jack. "Nothing will be all right until I know where she is."

Gordon started toward the phone. "Time's up," he said firmly. "I've listened to your soothing syrup talk long enough. It is time for action."

He was just beginning to dial, when they heard the door open. Mary was standing in it. She smiled at them—held out her hands. She was all right—all right—but not as they had ever seen her.

The men were silent. She swept across the room and threw off her wrap. Then she turned and faced them.

"Go on," she said, "why don't you ask me?" "What?" asked Gordon. "Where I have been?" "Wherever you have been, Mary, is all right—I know that—as long as you are all right and home again."

"Thank you, Gordon." Jack was pouring drinks. He needed one after this reaction nerve-racking anxiety to what might still lie ahead. "Fine friend you are!" he muttered.

"With what?" she demanded in terror. "What did he know? What did he surmise?"

"Your work," he said. "You are tired out—you haven't been yourself for a long time. Then tonight—if a patient of yours was in the condition you are, you'd know something had to be done and done at once."

"I'm all right, Gordon," she said—she could talk calmly now, that she was out of his arms. "I may have been working too hard. I may have been tired. But that crazy riding through the park—loving the wind through the trees, feeling it blow all the tiredness from me, has made me all right again. Really, Gordon—I'm telling you the truth."

"You never tell me anything else—you aren't the kind who could. But you don't know how you are. You can diagnose others, but you need some one else to tell you what's the matter and what to do about it, when you are run down."

"Wherever you have been, Mary, is alright—I know that—as long as you are alright and home again."

"Mary is all right. She can take care of herself."

"That isn't true always—of Mary or anybody else. Where—where is she?" Suddenly he grabbed Jack by the arm. "Are you keeping anything back?"

"Don't be an idiot, Gordon. What would I be keeping back? I told you the last I saw of her she was dancing with Jack. Then they were lost in the crowd."

"You're sure she didn't go with them somewhere?"

Jack wished he could lie, but it would be useless, he had already said he saw Jack and Lillian leaving alone.

"You wouldn't let me do it a while ago," Gordon said. "You took the receiver from my hand. But no man, nor devil, nor God Himself, can keep me from calling the police if she isn't here within fifteen minutes."

"Feel pretty cheap, if you start a scandal."

He thought Gordon was going to choke him in his anger. "Mary—in a scandal? Are you mad? Of course she hasn't done away with herself or gone on a binge or eloped. She may have been run over—or in a hold-up—or kidnapped."

Jack stopped by a table on which there was a tray. "Nonsense," he said, "none of those things have happened." But he had difficulty in pouring from the decanter, his hands were trembling so.

"I was just about to phone Bellevue to get a padded cell all ready for Gordon. Can't remember when I've had such a night."

Mary gave him a quick kiss. "I'm sorry, Jack dear," she said. "It was downright rotten of me. My one excuse is that I didn't know what I was doing—or couldn't help it, when I did. Now, let's all sit down and be comfortable, forget there are worries and thoughtless friends and everything else for a few minutes."

She told them of the ride she had felt she must have, that the crowd and the heat in the ballroom had been too much for her. She told Gordon it was too bad he hadn't been there to welcome Jack and Lillian, they looked so well and happy. It all sounded very natural.

Jack had been moving quietly around the room. When he saw they were not looking, he went quietly through the door. The one thing in his mind was to leave these two whom he loved more than anything in the world, together and alone. The closing of the door made Mary look around.

"Was that Jack?" she asked. Then "Jock! Jock!"

She was at the door. She was opening it to go after him. Then she felt Gordon's strong arms around her. He wheeled her around until they stood face close to face. She tried to release herself. His hold was tighter.

"You can't go on with it," he said.

"Yes—yes—yes—," she heard. He left her in a few minutes after she had insisted he come back for a late breakfast when the sun would be pouring in through the south windows.

"Goodnight, beloved," Gordon said at the door.

She turned back into the room. She walked around, turning off the various lights. As each one flickered out, she said, "Beloved—beloved—beloved—"

The intonations were all different.

"Tiger Woman" to Join Husband After Release

In a few days the gates of San Quentin prison will open and Clara Phillips will have paid her debt to society for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Albert Meadows. And the man in the triangle, Armour Phillips, the "tiger woman's" husband, is expected to meet his wife as she emerges from prison for the first time in 12 years. They plan to take up life again, both hoping to atone for the past. It was in 1922 that Mrs. Phillips, then 24, lured Mrs.

Meadows, 20-year-old widow and ex-showgirl, to an isolated section of Los Angeles and beat her to death with a hammer. She was arrested in Tucson, Ariz., and returned for trial to Los Angeles where she escaped prison and fled to Honduras where she was recaptured. Found guilty of second degree murder, she was sentenced to from 10 years to life and recently received her parole after serving 12 years.

MRS. JENCKES SUPPORTS

SPANISH WAR VETERAN BILL

Mrs. Virginia E. Jenckes, member of congress from the Sixth district, is supporting the Spanish War Veteran Pension bill now before the committee on rules in the House of Representatives at Washington, D. C.

In a letter to Hon. John J. O'Connor, chairman of the committee, she urges that the bill be expedited in order that the House may give it proper consideration. Her letter further states that in the Sixth district, which she represents, there are many Spanish American War veterans who are in urgent need of the protection the bill would give.

A copy of Mrs. Jenckes' letter to the committee chairman has been forwarded to all newspapers in her district.

LONGDEN HONORED

Russell Alexander was appointed chairman of the Rector Memorial Committee replacing John Cady, '23. A committee was also provided for to consider a reorganization of the association with the possibility of drawing up a set of by-laws and a constitution. This committee is to be appointed by Prof. Davis as president.

Following the business session, the group went to Forest Hill cemetery where a wreath was placed upon the grave of Mr. Rector. Dr. Grose, during whose administration at DePauw the Rector Foundation was established, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Rector was present at the dinner and for the first time in many years, consented to speak. Mrs. Longden also spoke briefly on being introduced.

LEGISLATURES AND WORDS

Anyone who can buy, beg, borrow or steal a copy of the Acts of the Indiana General Assembly every two years should do so. There may be much verbiage and an overabundance of matter that seems little worth reading. But stick with it and the reward is certain. This year it is necessary to go through to page 1563 to find the gem of the thick volume.

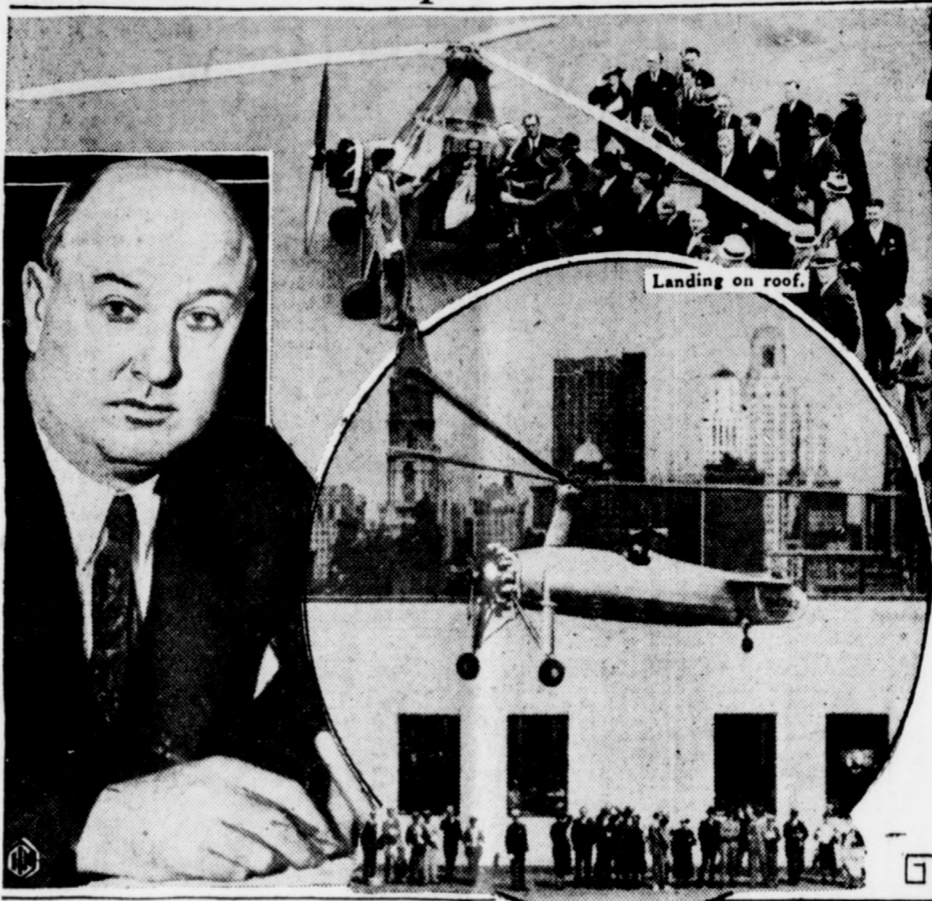

It may be remembered that on January 30 every year, President Roosevelt has a birthday anniversary. We have had bills to mark the occasion for the past two years. But the Indiana legislature, being predominantly of the same political faith as the president and perhaps also feeling that it was only meet to honor the country's chief executive, passed a resolution on the matter. It appears as Chapter 333 in the published acts under the caption of "President's Anniversary—Felicitation—Transmission—Clerk of House."

It provides that the clerk of the house have a copy of the resolution engrossed and forwarded to the president. If it was a true copy of the resolution as published, we can imagine the president's surprise to receive an official document from Indiana referring to him in rather scurrilous terms because this is the way the resolution begins:

"Whereas, On the 30th day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two there came into this world an infant boy who grew to manhood, virulent and strong."

Most of us hold at least a general idea of the meaning of virulent but

Save Time on Airport to Postoffice Trips

James Farley

When the new $5,000,000 Philadelphia postoffice was dedicated recently, two autogiro pilots demonstrated the value of their odd-looking craft by landing on the roof and taking off again with mail. Demands are being made in other cities for the inauguration of this service, as it effects the saving of one to three hours over the conventional method of transferring mail from outlying airports to the city postoffices. Postmaster General Farley stated that part of the $16,000,000 department surplus will be used to build autogiro landing fields over postoffices, in some of the principal cities of U. S.

merely as a matter of refreshing memories, Webster's New International Dictionary says:

"Virulent—Extremely poisonous or venomous; noxious; deadly; as a virulent disease. Bitter in enmity; malignant; as a virulent invective."

Sheriff Kidnaped By Auto Bandits

DU BOIS COUNTY OFFICER IS FOUND HANDCUFFED TO STOLEN CAR

BOONVILLE, Ind., June 17, (UP)—Sheriff Edward Luegers of Dubois county, was found handcuffed today in a stolen automobile within two hours after he was kidnaped by two hard driving young bandits.

The youths abandoned the sheriff and the automobile after running it into a ditch on state road 61, eight miles north of Boonville.

The sheriff said his abductors were less than 21 years old but "were bad characters and boasted of being members of the Dillinger gang."

They used his own handcuffs to shackle him and kept a gun pointed at him during their wild ride from Jasper to Boonville, the sheriff said.

"I got tired of looking down the barrel of that big revolver and was glad when they ran into the ditch and left me," he added.

Descriptions of the youths were broadcast over the state police radio network and law enforcement officers of surrounding counties organized posses to search for the youths. Luegers was kidnaped in front of the Dubois county jail at Jasper after arresting the youths on suspicion that an automobile they had wrecked north of there was a stolen car.

The sheriff had accompanied Thomas Hoffman, Jasper garageman, in answer to a call for wrecker service.

When the automobile, a Ford V-8 stolen from William Farrish, at Bedford, was pulled from the ditch the sheriff placed the youths under arrest and forced them to drive him to Jasper.

One of the youths pulled a gun from his pocket in front of the jail and forced the sheriff to accompany them in the stolen car.

The second wreck of the Ford gave weight to police belief that the youths were the same persons who stole a large sedan from Linton Saturday night. It was found wrecked between Oolitic and Bedford yesterday.

Abandoned by his abductors in the second wreck of the Ford, Sheriff Luegers walked to the Warrick county jail here and had the handcuffs taken from his wrists.

He said he would drive the stolen automobile back to Jasper and notify Bedford authorities of its return.

Foil Maniacs In Asylum Escape

OVERPOWER FOUR MEN ARMED WITH KNIVES, ICE PICK AT WAUPUN, WIS.

WAUPUN, Wis., June 17, (UP)—Four patients armed with butcher knives and an ice pick made an unsuccessful attempt to fight their way out of the State Hospital for Criminal Insane here yesterday.

Four persons were injured in the battle at the final iron gate which barred the convicts' break for freedom.

Two attendants suffered knife wounds and an inmate who came to their aid was almost scalped. One of the convicts was severely beaten before he was subdued.

Precautions were taken immediately against further outbreaks in the institution which is crowded 40 per cent over its designed capacity.

The plot was engineered by an insane youth, Andrew Gilling, 20 years old, who enlisted the aid of Herbert Cooper, another hospital inmate, and two convicts, Delmar Lattimer and Lowell Tietz, not insane, who were in the institution for medical treatment. Lattimer and Tietz were from the state prison, a quarter of a mile away.

Sears Wins Race On Princeton Track

GREENCASTLE YOUNG MAN TRIUMPHS IN TWO-MILE EVENT SATURDAY

Before a crowd of 35,000 spectators Raymond Sears, former Green Castle high school and Butler university track star, won the two-mile race by a decisive margin at Princeton, N. J. Saturday.

Sears, sprinting the last half mile won by 30 yards in 9:16.3, only a second short of the American record for the distance. He shook off Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. who finished second.

The heat proved too much for Henry Nielsen, Danish star, who holds the world 3,000-meter record and started the race a favorite. Nielsen was last from the start, more than 100 yards behind the leader at the mile and dropped out after struggling another lap. Frank Crowley of the New York A. C. also dropped out.
